Do you know the feeling, when you can rely on someone's support? Inconspicuous, unobtrusive and yet reliable – it is a good feeling to have and this is our philosophy at Biohort.

Our products are the mute servants in your garden for your leisure time. They are there to store, conserve and protect. Simple and yet diverse, they adapt themselves to your personal demands and are there in place when required.

Thoughtfully considered design, high quality materials and thorough construction all combine to create a durable product with a long life to which we are proud to add a 20 year guarantee.

However it is not only our products we wish to place at your disposal, but our personal service that is also "always there for you!" We will be delighted when you place your trust in us, and not only purchase our products but express your satisfaction by also recommending these to others.
